A guide to managing a hostile person at work

Stalking. Sexual harassment. Mass shootings. Employers are increasingly expected to have a plan to identify and manage threat posed by employees in the workplace. But how do you manage the violent person at work?

In this authoritative new guide, Dr Laurence Barton draws on over thirty years' experience as the world's leading threat assessor to outline how to prevent, manage, and mitigate workplace threat. He shows businesses and organisations of all sizes how to navigate new privacy laws, different management structures, and legal considerations in order to take straightforward, practical steps to minimise and ultimately prevent risk.

This is an invaluable new handbook for businesses and HR, legal, and security professionals worldwide.

About the Author

A former Fulbright Scholar, Dr Laurence Barton was the youngest-ever person to be appointed to the faculty of Harvard Business School and has been the top-ranked instructor at the FBI Academy for over sixteen years, where he teaches threat assessment. Dr Barton now advises businesses and organisations worldwide on preventing workplace violence, including thirty-four Fortune 100 companies, and is frequently asked to provide commentary by major news broadcasters, including the BBC and CNN.
