An anthology that explores the future beyond militarization by redefining peace and community.

Demilitarizing the Future draws from art, anthropology, and activism to investigate the entrenchment of militarism in everyday lives and consider novel imaginaries of its dissolution—of peacemaking, community, and shared equitable futures.

Readership

Demilitarizing the Future will be of interest to scholars, students, and classrooms, with engaging and evocative writing and images. It will also be of value, we hope, for activists and artists who are actively pursuing the hard work of imagining demilitarized futures in the world that could and should exist.
