An anthology that explores the poetry of iconoclastic New Women from the late Victorian era

Women poets of the late Victorian period created much fascinating verse from the standpoint of the independent and advanced New Woman, a profoundly important figure. This anthology features a broad range of crucial subjects addressed by these poets, including marriage, motherhood, female desire, and social problems.

Readership

The book would benefit Victorian professors and students, as well as individuals in women's studies.

Key selling points

Provides an expansive coverage of New Woman poetry

Enables easy access to a broad range of important but generally obscure poems

Provides much insight into late-Victorian culture

Presents poems from many Victorian books that are out of print today
