

Applied Ethics and Human Rights
Conceptual Analysis and Contextual Applications
Edited by Shashi Motilal

Pub Date: October 2011
Binding: Paperback
Price: £25 / $40
ISBN: 9789380601151

Category: PHILOSOPHY / Ethics & Moral Philosophy
BISAC code: PHI005000
BIC code: HPQ

Extent: 372 pages
Size: 229 x 152mm / 9 x 6

Rights Held: World, excluding South Asia

Description

Offers a philosophical perspective to ethical problems by providing an understanding of the concepts of human rights and responsibilities.

The core concern underlying the various problems in applied ethics is that of human rights. While most writings on human rights deal with its legal, political and socio-economic aspects, this collection instead addresses the philosophical aspect which has hitherto been neglected. Furthermore, the book explores the Indian counterpart of the idea of human rights which can be found in the notion of dharma.

The text addresses issues of conceptual analysis as well as contextual applications of the idea of human rights and its fine nuances. It also contains papers which analyze the concept of dharma, raising questions on whether this concept can do 'double duty' for the notions of human rights as well as the notion of human duties. The collection offers papers on human rights issues of different categories of people, including ethnic minorities, homosexuals, women, mentally ill people and prisoners. The papers in this volume also afford grounds for comparative study.

Readership: Students and scholars of human rights, the philosophical and social foundations of human rights and ethics; NGO workers and the general reader.

Contents

Preface; Introduction; Part One: Rights, Obligations and Responsibilities; Applying Ethics: Modes, Motives and Levels of Commitment; Jurisprudence and the Individual: Bridging the General and the Particular; Why Moral Relativism Does Not Make Sense; Human Rights – A Theoretical Foray; Moral Relativism and Human Rights; Complicity and Responsibility; Dharma: The Overriding Principle of Indian Life and Thought; Moral Foundations of Social Order as Suggested in the Vaiśeṣikasūtras; Modern Western Conception of Justice as Equality before the Law and Dharmaśāstras; Part Two: Human Rights Issues; Fragile Identities and Constructed Rights; Affirmative Action: Compensation or Discrimination?; Ethics, Human Rights and the LGBT Discourse in India; Distributive Justice: Locating in Context; Punishment and Human Rights; Rights of the 'Mad' in Mental Health Sciences; Choice, Life and the (m)Other: Towards Ethics in/of Abortion; The Nationalist Project and the Women's Question: A Reading of The Home and the World and Nationalism; On the Idea of Obligation to Future Generations; Morality in Cyberspace: Intellectual Property and the Right to Information; Violence – A Right to the Survival of the Self?; 'Moral Obligation' to Fight for the Prevention of Greater Calamity: A Debate between Sādharaṇa Dharma and Sva Dharma; Globalisation and Human Rights; Notes on Contributors

About the Editor

Shashi Motilal is Associate Professor in the Department of Philosophy at the University of Delhi. She is a prolific author, and has co-written Human Rights, Gender and Environment (2006) and Social Inequality: Perspectives on Human Rights, Gender and Environment (forthcoming).

Ordering in the UK/Rest of the World

Marston Book Services
P.O. Box 269
Abingdon, Oxfordshire
OX14 4YN, United Kingdom
Tel: +44 (0)1235 465577
Fax: +44 (0)1235 465556
direct.orders@marston.co.uk
trade.orders@marston.co.uk

Ordering in North America

Books International
P.O. Box 605
Herndon, VA 20172-0605
United States
Tel: +1 703 661 1570
Fax: +1 703 661 1501
bimail@presswarehouse.com